The IEMC program is a nearly 40-year-old program designed and developed to meeting the need for exercise-based Emergency Operations Center (EOC) training. It has evolved over the years to become a highly competitive and sought-after program for communities to include on their Integrated preparedness Plans (IPP) and exercise schedules. The IEMC is an application-based program that requires approval from both the State and FEMA Region. Each year only 12 communities are selected. Haywood County, N.C. applied and has been selected for a 2023 delivery.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The Integrated Emergency Management Course (IEMC) is a 4-day, exercise-based training activity for Emergency Operations Center (EOC) personnel AND community partners involved with incident response and recovery, to practice simulated but realistic emergency situations within a structured learning environment. A team of community planners and Emergency Operations Center (EMI) staff will work together to design a program agenda that includes classroom facilitated lectures and hands-on discussion-based and operations-based exercises consisted with HSEEP.

TARGET AUDIENCE

The IEMC is designed for personnel who perform emergency support responsibilities within their community.

- Elected and appointed officials
- Senior level personnel from response agencies
- Leaders or representatives from volunteer organizations
- Representatives from private agencies that support emergency response

COURSE GOALS

The IEMC will build the inter-dependent awareness, leadership, and communication skills needed to develop, refine, and implement policies, plans, procedures and mutual aid agreements in a 'whole community' EOC environment. Community participants will gain a better understanding of the needs of their community before, during and after a disaster.
